Sonia Shah : The Fever: How Malaria Has Ruled Humankind for 500,000 Years before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Fever: How Malaria Has Ruled Humankind for 500,000 Years:

In recent years, malaria has emerged as a cause celebre for vogueish philanthropists. Bill Gates, Bono, and Laura Bush are only a few of the personalities who have lent their names--and opened their pocketbooks--in hopes of stopping the disease. Still, in a time when every emergent disease inspires waves of panic, why aren't we doing more to tame one of our oldest foes? And how does a pathogen that we've known how to prevent for more than a century still infect 500 million people every year, killing nearly one million of them?
