Stowe For anyone working in bodywork, such as massage therapists, fitness instructors, physical therapists, and other health workers, the muscular system chart is an essential tool to have in order to be able to clearly show the client or patient exactly what muscles are involved in their bodywork or treatment. This visual aid shows where the muscle is in relation to other muscles and, thus, is useful in understanding the interaction of the muscles with other muscles as well as ligaments, tendons, and joints. The chart is very detailed and shows deep as well as superficial muscles. It's also a great learning tool for body workers as well as their clients.

This classic chart of The Muscular System was illustrated by Peter Bachin in 1947 and continues to be one of the most easily recognized images in medical illustration. Every illustration is vividly colored and finely detailed. All structures are clearly labeled. The large central illustrations show both anterior and posterior views of the male muscular system. Four smaller illustrations show: the muscles of the right hand, the right half of the diaphragm, muscles of the posterior abdominal wall, muscles of the right foot.
